Platt's Man Forced Out—President Roosevelt Resting Easy This Morning.

LOUISVILLE DENTIST SUICIDES

Saratoga, Sept. 24—Gov. Odell was renominated on the first ballot and Frank W. Higgins chosen lieutenant governor at the Republican state convention this morning. George R. Sheldon, Platt's man, was forced out of the race by Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, assisted by Gov. Odell.

LEFT FOR THE EAST.

Pittsburg, Sept. 24—A special train carrying President Roosevelt and party arrived at Union station at 7:30 o'clock this morning and left for the East eight minutes later. The train was closed and no one could be seen. President Roosevelt was reported to be sleeping and resting easy.

DENTIST KILLS HIMSELF.

Louisville, Sept. 24—Dr. George S. Seymour, one of the most prominent dentists in the city, committed suicide by asphyxiation in his bath room this morning.

SEVERAL ARRESTS.

A NUMBER CHARGED WITH ILLEGAL VOTING AND FALSE SWEARING.

A gentleman from Fulton at noon stated:

Several arrests were made during the day. Three negroes were pulled during the morning for illegal voting and two men who swore out the warrants causing the negroes' arrest were also arrested, charged with false swearing, at the instance of the negroes.

The negroes were Arthur Henry, who lives at Mayfield, Dan Sweet, Bill Hymore, Leah Davis and "Sporty John." Davis was released on a $500 bond secured by J. S. Cavender. Joe Ford, a negro, who voted illegally, escaped before the officers could get him. "Sporty John" was headed for Tennessee when Eaker ran him in. Through the persuasion of some of the whiskey advocates, Arthur Henry and Dan Sweet, who were arrested on warrants sworn out by George Hince, Jr., and Gus Fields, turned around and swore out warrants against their accusers charging them with false swearing.

MARRIAGE AT FULTON.

John A. Robien, a well known business man of Mayfield and Miss Pinkie Newhouse will be married at Fulton tonight.

IMPORTANT DECISION

Bowling Green Health Authorities are Sustained.

Anyone Can Be Taken to the Pest House When It Is Deemed Necessary.

JUDGE BARKER'S DECISION

An important decision was yesterday rendered in Louisville by Judge Barker, dissolving the injunction granted a few days ago in Bowling Green to prevent a daughter of Bankar Porter from being taken to the pest house. Judge Barker holds that boards of health are invested with ample authority to order anyone to the pest house when it is deemed necessary for the welfare and protection of a neighborhood or a community. He holds that the county judge who granted the injunction had no authority to do so.

The origin of the case was when an effort was made to take Miss Amelia Porter, who had smallpox, to the pest house instead of allowing her to remain at home.

County Judge Drake granted an injunction at Bowling Green and it has now been dissolved at Louisville. The decision will no doubt serve as a precedent.

AN OPERATION

President Roosevelt Cancels Remaining Engagements.

An Abscess Resulting From Recent Accident Must Be Removed.

Indianapolis, Sept. 24—As a result of the trolley accident at Pittsfield, Mass., the president received several serious bruises. One of these on the left leg between the knee and the ankle, has developed into a small abscess. The president is entirely well otherwise and has continued to meet the several engagements of his itinerary, but in view of the continuance of the abscess and out of the abundance of caution, Drs. O'iver and Cook, of Indianapolis, were requested to meet Dr. Leuz, the president's surgeon, at Indianapolis. Dr. Richardson, of Washington, D. C., being also one of the number.

In the opinion of the doctors the trouble necessitates an operation which they think should be performed at once at St. Vincent's hospital, in this city. As after the operation the president will require entire rest, probably for at least ten days or two weeks, it has been necessary to cancel all the remaining engagements of his trip and he will go directly from Indianapolis to Washington, this evening. The physicians say that the case is not in any way serious and that there is no danger whatever. This statement is made so that no false rumors may disturb the people and that they may be authoritatively advised of the exact nature of the case.

GEORGE P. CORTELYOU,
Secretary to the President.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Levi Pettigrew, colored, said to be wanted in Decaturville, Tenn., for murder, is in the lockup here pending advice from the sheriff there. He tried to get a piece on a Tennessee river boat yesterday on condition that he be allowed to hide when they passed Decaturville and the police were notified.

THE OPENING DAY

State Assembly of Rebekahs Begins a Two Days Session.

About Ninety Delegates Here Today and Many Others Are Expected By Night.

BUSINESS SESSION TODAY

The annual session of the Rebekah Assembly of Kentucky, I. O. O. F., convened here at the Masonic hall this morning with about 90 delegates in attendance.

The meeting was opened by song followed by a prayer by Mr. William Graham, of Louisville, who acted in the place of Rev. G. W. Banks, of the city, who is out of town today.

Mayor D. A. Yeiser delivered an address of welcome in behalf of the city which was followed by an address of welcome delivered by Past Grand Master J. Whitt Potter, of Bowling Green who acted in the place of A. D. Olin, of Mayeville, Ky., and who will not get here until tonight. The responses were made by Sisters Lon Knighton, of Louisville and Belle Salice, of Lexington. The organization and opening work of the session was then begun and at noon the meeting was adjourned until 1:30 o'clock when the afternoon session began.

There has been a postponement of the trolley ride which will not be given this afternoon late, as set down in the program, but will be given tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. This was done to give all the delegates a ride over the city, many having sent word that they could not arrive before night. Today there are about 90 delegates here but a larger number is expected tomorrow after the night trains have come in. Tonight at 7:30 will begin the exemplification of Rebekah degree by the Falls City lodge No. 1, of Louisville and Ingleside Rebekah lodge No. 17, of Paducah. After this work is done there will be a reception given and the night session will have closed.

The regular work will be kept up tomorrow and at 7:30 in the evening a big banquet will be given at which there will be addresses made and a musical program rendered.

IMPORTANT CHANGE

Mr. Dailey, Superintendent on Louisville Division, Transferred.

He Goes to Freeport, Ill., and Mr. A. Philbrick Succeeds Him on This Division.

OTHER NEWS OF RAILROADS

An important railroad change will take place October 1, and the Louisville division of the Illinois Central will get a new superintendent.

Mr. J. C. Dailey, who several months ago succeeded Mr. H. U. Wallace, now of the Freeport, Ill. division, will be transferred to the latter position, and it is understood Mr. Wallace will go up. What position he will receive has not been given out here.

Mr. A. Philbrick, now of the Memphis division of the road, will succeed Mr. Dailey as superintendent of the Louisville division, but it is not yet given out who will succeed Mr. Philbrick on the Memphis division.

The change is one of the most important of the year in railroad circles. Mr. Dailey has been superintendent of the Louisville division only a few months, but has made many friends on his trips to the city.

Mr. Philbrick was in the city last evening to go over the Louisville division on his first inspection trip. He was accompanied by Roadmaster Pat Laden of the Memphis division.

Mr. A. J. McKillop, traveling engineer of the Memphis division of the Illinois Central, returned to the city this morning after attending the traveling engineers' convention at Chicago. The convention lasted several days, but Mr. McKillop took a trip and had been gone two weeks and more.

The auditor of the Illinois Central has finished checking out Cashier Will Street, who resigned last week. Mr. Street is succeeded by Mr. Walter Hailey, who was in line for the promotion and now has charge.

The Memphis excursion train returned to the city this morning at 7:30 o'clock. There was a good patronage but the passengers were all glad to get back to town. The train went South Monday morning and was run to accommodate the arrival of passengers.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

Fifty-Second Statement Issued by the Illinois Central.

An Excellent Showing Made—Several Small Roads May Be Absorbed By Vote on October 15.

IN PROSPEROUS CONDITION

The fifty-second annual report of the directors of the Illinois Central for the year ended June 30 has been prepared for the stockholders. Chicago, Madison and Northern railroad, Kankakee and Southwestern railroad, Chicago and Springfield railroad, St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute railroad, Chicago, Havana and Western railroad, Rantoul railroad, Mount City railway, Chicago and Texas railroad, Illinois and Indiana railroad, Riverside and Harlem railroad.

The sum of $67,986.58 has been advanced on account of the construction of the St. Louis and Ohio river railroad, designed to extend from Grantsburg to Golemdn on the Ohio river. These 18 miles of railroad lie wholly in Illinois and are estimated to cost $300,000. In order to connect Thebes, Ill., the southern terminus of the railway formerly operated by the Chicago and Texas railroad company, with the main line of the Illinois Central railroad at Mounds, Ill., a contract has been made with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad company for the joint use of nine miles of its railroad from Thebes, Ill., to Olive Branch and advances amounting to $15,634.10 have been made for the construction of the Merced and Olive Branch railroad. HAD THREE TRUNKS

Illinois Central Runs a Special Train
From Fulton to Memphis.

It Was to Carry a Bridegroom's Trunks
So He Could Get His Wedding
Garments in Time.

A VERY UNUSUAL CASE

The Illinois Central did an East St. Louis man a good turn the other day which he will appreciate as long as he lives. His name is Morris Gerstel, and he was to marry Miss Yetta Hora at Memphis last Sunday.

Owing to a pardonable flurry which any bridegroom can be excused from encountering the three trunks which formed the sum total of Mr. Gerstel's baggage, failed to make the train which bore him to Memphis and in happiness.

He did not learn it until he reached Memphis.

His chagrin can be imagined, for in those three trunks were contained all of the fine raiment which go to make the happy man a center of attraction in such great events. He was nonplussed for a moment but remembered that his firm shipped immense quantities of goods over the Illinois Central, and that he had a personal acquaintance with several of the high officials of the road. He accordingly appealed to these gentlemen, explaining that he was to be married in Memphis at 8:30 o'clock and that no regular train of the company was due to arrive in the city until an hour and a half later.

Remembering the fact that they had been married once, and what a portentous event that day was in their lives, the officers to whom he had appealed determined to extricate him from his dilemma.

They accordingly shipped his three trunks on the slow train which leaves East St. Louis at 8:27 a. m. Sunday morning for Fulton. The train arrived at its destination at 2:45 Sunday afternoon. The company had provided, in the meantime, a special engine and baggage car. All that this special train carried was the three trunks of Mr. Gerstel and the train crew, and at 3:05 o'clock it pulled out for Memphis. The distance between Fulton and Memphis is 120 miles, but at 5:21 the train puffs into the Poplar street station, having made the 120 miles in but sixteen minutes over the time required to make a mile a minute, and, after allowing for stops, traveled the distance in exactly 100 minutes.

Mr. Gerstel was accordingly enabled to array himself in his chosen wedding finery, and at the same time the Illinois Central Railroad company went on record as a friend in need, and the "fast man" at a marriage.

IN CINCINNATI.

Mr. H. C. Bronaugh received a telegram last night from the four Paducahans who went to the Cincinnati Gun club tournament stating that Starr tied Gilbert and Crosby, average 94, and "they also shot." This indicates that there has not been much doing among the Kentuckians.

VERY SAD DEATH.

Mr. Henry Darnell of Hardin, Marshall county, who was married here at the home of Mr. C. C. Lee on the 22nd of last month to Miss Zebbie Sledd, also of Hardin, died suddenly of congestion at his home there a day or two ago. He and his bride had packed up to go to Colorado to reside, and Saturday attended a social and Mr. Darnell ate quite a quantity of watermelon, afterwards being seized with congestion. Monday he died. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. C. C. Lee of the city, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee attended the funeral.

DRYS WON

Long Drawn out Contest in Fulton
Comes to a Close.

Both Town and District Went "Dry"
by Safe Majorities.

The local option election in Fulton which has been waged with such relentless vigor for several weeks past came to a close last evening with victory for the "drys," who won in town by a majority of 67 and in the district by a majority of 135. It was decidedly the most hotly fought election ever held in this section of the state.

GOES WEST.

As stated in The Sun several weeks ago, Major Thomas E. Moss, one of Paducah's and Kentucky's best known attorneys, will leave November 1 for Spokane, Wash., to locate and practice law. His son and partner, Attorney Jesse B. Moss, will remain here and continue the business.

STOVE EXPLODED.

A gasoline stove at the McKnight barber shop near Eleventh and Caldwell streets exploded last evening and scattered burning oil all over the floor, but the flames were extinguished before they did much damage. The fire department was called out but its services were not needed.

The Young King of Spain.

The king of Spain, whose coronation takes place soon, has of necessity been kept much aloof from the casual and impromptu wherewithal most does love to lurk; but fun has dearly loves like other lads. He and his sisters have learned to make the most of their simple opportunities of glimpses outside their daily routine. One of their excitements has been a visit to a convent (!) where the younger novices and nuns became great friends with the royal children. Among the sisters is a certain girl of English extraction on the mother's side—a singularly bright and pretty creature, speaking the most delightful English, which is a reason for encouraging the friendship which the younger princess, the Infanta Theresa, has conceived for her. Alfonso likes her immensely.

GROUP.

Usually begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. WHERE FLATTERY WON THE DAY

United States Senator Burton Telle Good Story on Himself.
United States Senator Burton of Kansas once had a bill to collect from an impecunious Irish friend who had kissed the Blarney stone to some purpose. After many notices the "captain" declined to appear in Mr. Burton's law office. A half hour of complimentary palaver availed him nothing, and he agreed to sign a note covering the claim and furnish "the best man in town" as indorser, says the New York Times. When the Irishman had affixed his mark Mr. Burton, straightening his face, sternly demanded:

"Now, Captain, who's going to be your indorser?"

The "captain" indulged in another passage of the most unctuous flattery, then leaned over Mr. Burton's shoulder, turned the note on its face, and said:

"You write J. R. Burton on the back there, and it will be the name of the best man in the whole county."

DEVoured BY WORMS.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

Our Rivers Flow Southward.

A writer in one of the scientific papers calls attention to a fact that few persons perhaps stop to think about; it is that nearly all our rivers flow toward the south. This is a matter of the utmost importance in many ways. A river that is frozen at the mouth, while open and overflowing at its head waters, would give almost incalculable trouble. The whole history of this continent would have been different if the Mississippi had found its outlet in Hudson Bay.

CRUTCH-BOUND

The crutch is a poor substitute for legs, and affords a very inconvenient and tiresome mode of locomotion—there is no more pathetic sight than a person slowly and painfully moving along the street supported by these artificial limbs.

When Rheumatism settles in the bones and muscles of the legs, it is safe to predict that the victim will eventually become helpless and crutch-bound. The corrosive, irritating matter that is deposited in the joints and muscles causes the most intense pain, the knees and ankles swell, and when the natural oils and fluids that lubricate these parts are completely destroyed the joints become locked and the muscles drawn and stiff, and crutches a necessity.

The acid poisons that produce rheumatic pains form in the blood, and are distributed through the system, and lodged in the arms, shoulders, hands, back and feet, or other parts of the body—resulting often in total disability. A permanent cure of Rheumatism can be effected only by a complete cleansing of the blood, and no other remedy so surely accomplishes this as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acid effects, purifies and invigorates the stagnant blood, and the gritty particles are washed out or dislodged by the new rich blood, and relief comes to the pain-racked sufferer. S. S. S. leaves no morbid, irritating matter in the blood to reunite and produce another attack, but expels every atom of it from the system. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, and does not impair the digestion or general health like alkali or potash remedies.

Write for our special free book on Rheumatism, and if any medical advice or other information is wanted, our physicians will gladly furnish it without charge.

FILIPINOS FORM A CHURCH.

NEW ORGANIZATION SAID TO BE INDEPENDENT OF ROME.

Rome, Sept. 24.—Great alarm is felt at the Vatican because of information received there to the effect that influential Filipino priests have started a national church independent of Rome, and are rapidly extending the movement among the natives, seizing upon Catholic churches for the use of the new organizations.

Perceiving now the mistake made in delaying the Taft negotiations, Pope Leo has ordered Mgr. Guilfi, the apostolic delegate, to the Philippines, to leave for Manila October 1, there to conciliate the natives and stamp out the schism, which complicates the Filipino question seriously, inasmuch as it is believed that the United States government would look with favor on a Filipino church that was independent of Rome.

The working boys' class at the Y. M. C. A. was organized last night with ten members, a large class considering the start. Secretary Hanna thinks the classes will rapidly grow and says he feels sure that the business men's class will have twenty members before the month is out.

NEWS FROM GRAVES

Joe Milburn Buried With Military Honors—More Tools in Jail.

A Former Paduach Negro Dies and Is Buried, and Indictments May Follow.

DEATHS IN GRAVES COUNTY

Joe Milburn, the Mayfield man killed in the Illinois Central freight wreck at Boaz Monday morning, was buried at Hickory Grove yesterday with military honors. The young man was a member of the Mayfield company, and about twenty accompanied the remains to their last resting place. The inquest yesterday resulted in a verdict that he lost his life in the wreck.

Mayfield continues to have trouble with her prisoners in the county jail. Saturday various kinds of tools were found in different parts of the jail and although a careful watch was kept over the prisoners yesterday Deputy Jailor Bob James found a ten inch meat saw in Tom Tinker's cell. Tinker is the desperado that was recently captured after he had once escaped, and after he had gone about the country for several weeks heavily armed and defying arrest. The closest vigilance is being kept on the prisoners.

Andrew Jackson, colored, who became very ill from dropsy here several days ago and was sent to relatives in Mayfield, died a day or two ago and was buried there. It is said that his grave was so shallow that the odor came near depopulating the neighborhood about the cemetery. The county authorities had to be appealed to to take some action, and it is said the next grand jury will be asked to indict the guilty persons.

Mrs. Joanna Scholes, aged 81, died at her home near Pryorsburg of catarrh of the stomach, leaving four children to mourn her loss. The burial was at Macedonia, near Mayfield.

W. B. Howard, aged 83, a well known citizen of Graves county, died yesterday morning at his home near Farmington, leaving ten children to mourn his loss. His wife died about one month ago.

25,000 DAMAGES ASKED

N. C. & St. L. Sued for Chal Dodd' Death.

Young Man Killed Was Near Elva While Asleep on the Track.

Mr. L. E. Dodd, of Benton, has brought suit there in the circuit court against the N. C. and St. L. railroad for $25,000 damages for the death of his brother, Chal Dodd, who was struck by a train and killed recently while asleep on the track.

The young man had been to Paduach and spent all his money, and with a companion boarded a train and having no ticket were put off just outside the city.

They had walked as far as Elva when young Dodd sat down to rest and a train came along and struck him. He was brought to the city and died from his injuries.

ACCUSED WAS ACQUITTED.

The jury that heard the evidence in Justice Barber's court yesterday in the case against Mrs. Mary Baer, charged with a breach of the peace, decided she was not guilty. She was charged with having made damaging statements that prevented D. Rittorf from buying some junk.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

THAT LAEVISON'S PALE ALE AND IRON-TONE ARE NON-INTOXICATING.

Another victory has been scored by the A. M. Laevison bottling works regarding their mild drinks. Mr. F. Melton, the well known merchant of Mayfield, Ky., who has been handling "Iron-Tone" and "Pale Ale," manufactured by A. M. Laevison and Co., was tried before Judge Webb, of Mayfield, day before yesterday on the charge of dispensing intoxicating liquors in violation of the local option law. After hearing the evidence and testing the "Pale Ale" and "Iron-Tone," Judge Webb immediately dismissed the case, and informed Mr. Melton the drinks were non-intoxicating and he could sell them at his pleasure. This is further conclusive proof added to the heretofore favorably rendered decisions holding Laevison's drinks non-intoxicating.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 24, 1902.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

HON. P. H. DAREY, of Caldwell,
for Court of Appeals.

HON. C. H. LINN, of Lyon, for Congress.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"If life is a burden, bear it;
If life be a duty, dare it."

THE WEATHER.

For Kentucky, rain and cooler tonight. Thursday fair in west, rain in the eastern portion.

Our laws are made in congress,
and they are made by our congressman. Laboring men want laws that are beneficial to them, even if they are so no farther than not to be inimical. It is understood that Hon.
Ollie James, the Democratic nominee for congress, is not a friend to organized labor, and has so proven himself in the past. If he is not, how can laboring men vote for him to go to congress and make their laws? If they do not stick together and vote against a man who is their avowed enemy, they can never expect anything but hostile laws.
They should think about this and vote for Hon. O. H. Linn, the Republican nominee for congress, who is a friend to the laboring man and represents a party that is a friend to him.

The Democrats are hoping against hope that they will succeed in convincing the public that the Republicans don't know what they are doing, and want to revise the tariff in order to injure the trusts. The Republicans are practically solid on every question, and if they were not now they would be after the next national convention has passed on the serious questions at issue. There is absolutely no hope of destroying the people's confidence in the Republican party.

The Democratic papers may rave and rant and theorize and speculate on the significance of what President Roosevelt says in his speeches, but they will find in the end that he is too clever a man to say anything untimely or anything that he will later regret.
President Roosevelt says what he thinks, or at least a part of it, and he is a mighty strong thinker. As the proper time the Republican party will endorse or repudiate what he has said regarding paramount issues, but whatever it does, it will stick together.

Those elevations we have been kicking about for several months are still in the concrete sidewalks on Broadway, and the city council is apparently going to allow them to remain there until they are worn level. It is acceding to the request that everybody walk over the undulations as energetically and frequently as possible, so they will quickly be worn down to a level with the remainder of the pavement.

Owensboro undertakers, we are told in the dispatches, are puzzled to know what to do with the body of a child that a former rodeo taker had kept for four years for the expenses of embal-ming. They might try burying it. The body is certainly entitled by this time to be buried.

The United States has been formally requested to remove her remaining troops from Cuba. The question will be passed on by Secretary Root, and if it is deemed advisable the last vestige of United States authority will be withdrawn from there.

Judging from recent issues of the papers the Democrats are getting deperate in their efforts to get somebody to run for aldermen. It is hoped a called on will accept.

Fulton has gone dry. The nearest booze joint is Mayfield. "The people want the real stuff, however, they will continue to come to Paducah."

What has become of the reported movement to reorganize the board of health? Paducah has been without one for about two years now.

We are having the kind of weather
now that makes us cross the street man. If there is any time that we appreciate good streets it is in the fall.

It seems that some of our city officials are suddenly getting mighty particular about conforming to the law.

One of Reed's Relucts.

"No matter what you may say," declared Representative Babcock of Wisconsin, to Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee, according to Leslie's Weekly, when they were discussing the Babcock proposition to put all steel products on the free list,
"I am right, and I know it, and when a man is right he is in the majority."
"Just so," replied Payne, "but you remember that 'Tom' Reed used to say, 'God and one make a majority,
but many a martyr has been burned at the stake while the votes were being counted.'"

Test of a Gentleman.

One of our readers sent a nice story about the question "What is a gentleman?" says the London Globe. Hearing a house carpenter spoken of as a gentleman by a furniture remover, he sought delicately for explanations.
"Lor' bless yer, sir," answered the funiture remover, "we calla every man a gentleman as pays 20 shillings in the pound."

Not the Lord.

"Baptizing days" are great events among the negroes of the south. On one occasion the old black preacher took two candidates, one a middle-aged, sedate, quiet man, the other a young, exultant fellow, well out in the stream, where the water was waist deep. He put the older one down first, who came up, folded his arms and looked dignified and pious. The younger one, after being put under, came up greatly excited and shouting: "Glory!
Glory! I seed de Lord! I seed him in the water, right down dar at de bottom!" The older one, patting him on the shoulder, said: "Ifush, honey, hush; dat war'n't de Lord. I seed it. It was nothin' but a terrapin."

What the Letters Meant.

The letters R. E. V. P. are so common that those who do not know their meaning are the exception. But when they first began to come into use on this side of the water they created a lot of discussion and inquiry. In the nation's capital a housewife startled her proposed guests a quarter of a century ago by an invitation carrying these letters. Not one of the recipients knew the meaning, but Robert O. Ingersoll, who received one of the cards, firmly announced that they stood for "Right smart victuals provided."

Isak Wit.

An English old maid was driving on a jaunting car by the side of a priest along one of the tourists' routes in Ireland when she uttered an exclamation of horror at the sight of some very small boys bathing in the river well in view of the road. "It's too scandalous," she exclaimed.
"Where are the police?" "What is it, ma'am?" asked the priest. The irate lady replied by pointing in the direction of the river. "Is it those gooseons over there that you're studying?" asked the priest. "For my part, I'm not in the habit of reading small print at that distance."

Called for Judgment.

Col. John C. Haskell of Columbia,
S. C., has on his place an old negro woman who cares for her brother's motherless pickaninies. One day the colonel, after experiences of several small losses which had been fastened on the children, said to her:
"Rachael, I think those children are getting dishonest."

"Well, Sah, dat's a fac. I tell dere daddy he out'an let 'em steal. Children ain't got no judgment in stealin'.
Wen dey do steal tings, jes as lakely dey'll tak' somethin' you'll miss!" —
New York Times

The Color Question.

James Bryce, M. P., in his recent address before Oxford university, said: "I have been struck by hearing men in the Rocky mountains, who would have concealed any infusion of negro blood, mention that their mothers or grandmothers had been Indians." A difference between the Teutonic and the south European races was here noted, the latter feeling far less repulsion to intermarriage with a colored race. "Where Americans, Englishmen and Germans rule," he said, "there is no intermarriage with the color races and consequently no prospect of race fusion."

Mayor Jones Seeking Health.

Mayor Jones ("Golden Rule") Jones
of Toledo, has gone into the wilds of Michigan somewhere for an indefinite period of rest, accompanied only by his son Paul. Mr. Jones is in bad health, but refuses to consult a doctor. He has left no address or information as to his movements, except with a confidential official, and is going to make a determined effort to return home in good condition.

ards of maintenance has been strictly adhered to. The average weight

Negro Philosophy.

You would have to go far to find a philosophy to match this: A negro, standing in his cabin door during a thunder storm, exclaimed: "Bless God, lightning's hit de mule, en de sheriff can't levy on him." — Atlanta

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Only a wife and mother can fully understand the grand benefit which Wine of Cardui is in cases of barrenness and pregnancy. After five years of married life most of the time to ill health, with irregular, scanty and extremely painful menstruation I became completely discouraged. I kept getting worse and worse. The doctor said that if I could have a child I would be much better, but inflammation had set in and I was in such poor health generally that I was simply unfit to be a mother. My sister had a beautiful boy and she told me what benefit she had derived from Wine of Cardui so my husband and I decided that we would stop the doctor's visits and try Cardui. I wish I had only known of this before.
What misery I would have been spared! But I was grateful for the speedy relief I obtained, and so pleased to find that I gradually was returning to health, happiness and new life and hope. Within four months
I was like a changed being and now found that the long hoped for happiness was to be mine as I expected a child. I kept taking Wine of Cardui all through my pregnancy and a lovely daughter blessed our home. Childbirth was almost painless and my husband and I both thank you a thousand times for the sunshine and happiness Wine of Cardui brought to our home.

Jennie Morris.

THE greatest ambition of men and women is to have happy homes blessed with healthy children. Because wives are weak and sick thousands of homes are barren and desolate. How many there are today suffering irregularities and bearing down pains, menaced with the probability of becoming childless wives. Thousands of heartbroken childless wives are becoming mothers by having these troubles relieved by Wine of Cardui. This great remedy so strengthens the organs of motherhood that nervous, discouraged women who want children but who fear the suffering caused by childbirth, go through motherhood with little trouble. By strengthening the organs weakened by sickness Wine of Cardui makes all this possible. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception, does prevent miscarriage, does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer and treat yourself in the privacy of your home with this great remedy. Where digestive disorders exist a small package of Thelford's
Black-Draught should also be used.

GOES TO GERMANY.

PARTICULAR TRAVELERS DEMAND THE IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN ARTICLES.

"I had drank coffee since babyhood, and although I was very nervous and dyspeptic, I could not and would not believe that coffee had anything to do with it," writes an American lady now living in Menich, Germany.

"My physician finally convinced me that coffee was at the bottom of all my troubles, and I tried many things to take its place, but nothing satisfied the craving for real coffee. At last, one day in a half-hearted, despairing mood, I bought from the grocer some Postum Food Coffee. My grown up daughter, who by the way had inherited my nervousness, laughed and said, 'Don't you know that nothing can take the place of well made coffee, half Java and half Mocha, with plenty of rich cream?'"

"I firmly believe it," I replied, "but a drowning man will grasp at a straw, and I am getting more nervous every day, and can hardly eat anything at all, and Dr. S. like the rest of the physicians, tells me it all comes from coffee."

"So next morning I personally made a pot of Postum following closely the directions, and such a surprise! The color was a rich, dark, winey brown, and a pleasant aroma greeted the nostrils. But the taste—the crucial test! I confess I feared to put it to that test for fear of another disappointment.

"But not so with my daughter, who eagerly made the trial and fairly shouted: 'Hurray! Mamma, you have found it at last.' I tried it and that ended our coffee drinking for good. The flavor was full and rich and left nothing to be desired.

"In a short time, my dyspepsia disappeared and as for nerves—my daughter and myself almost forgot that such things existed, until we came to Germany and I had to go back to coffee and we are again as nervous and dyspeptic as we used to be. But we don't intend to let it go on; I have written to America for a good supply of Postum and propose to always have it in the future at any cost. Life is miserable to us without Postum.

"When we used it, Postum proved the most gentle of conquerors and loaded us with benefits in the way of strengthened health and quiet nerves." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

CIRCUS HERE.

W. H. HARRIS' WORLD FAMOUS NICKEL PLATE SHOWS ARRIVED THIS MORNING.

Despite the recent heavy showers the popular Harris circus arrived early this morning and at once began the erection of their tents on the Twelfth and Trimble street show grounds.

The Nickel Plate shows do not come as strangers as they have exhibited here before always giving an up-to-date performance.

The street parade this morning was on time and large crowds all along the principal streets were out to witness it. It was clean and very creditable.

The afternoon performance drew a large crowd and every one came away well pleased and satisfied. The features offered by the show this year are all good, and were deserving of the numerous applauses they received.

What makes the Nickel Plate more interesting than most shows is that it is given in one ring, where one can see and hear all that takes place. They give another performance tonight and those desiring to see a good show do not want to miss this one.

THE RAINFALL.

THE TOBACCO CROP IS BEING GREATLY BENEFITED.

There was over half an inch of rain this morning early, beginning about midnight. Quite a thunder storm passed over the city, and at 7 a. m. the rain had amounted to .68 of an inch.

The farmers are beginning to complain that they are having too much rain, and it is hurting the hay crop. Tobacco, however, is growing rapidly, and the outlook is for a fine crop.

SIAM APPEALS FOR AID.

Copenhagen, Sept. 24.—Through its crown prince, who is now the guest of the Danish court, Siam has appealed to King Christian to act as intermediary in blocking Anglo-French designs on Siamese territory. The Danish sovereign is asked to exert his personal influence with King Edward, his son-in-law, and Oscar Nicholas, his grandson, to alter the intentions of the London and Paris foreign offices. It is especially hoped by Siam that the czar will use his good offices with France in favor of the Oriental kingdom by way of return for the lavish hospitality which he received during his visit to Siam a few years ago. Apparently there is little prospect that the crown prince's mission will be successful.

MAB DOG.

BITES A PROMINENT LADY OF THE COUNTY YESTERDAY.

Miss Harper, daughter of Mr. Brant Harper, a prominent Maxon Mills resident, was bitten by a supposed mad dog yesterday afternoon. The animal attacked her and before she could get away or help could be summoned, had bitten her several times. The wounds are not serious.

Anti-Nuptial Agreement.

Mrs. Dubois, wife of the senator Idaho, is an enthusiast on the subject of child culture. Before her marriage she was a kindergarten, and the made child culture her life study.

"When we were married," she said recently to a friend, "the senator and I made only one ante-nuptial agreement."

"What was that?" asked the friend. "We agreed," said Mrs. Dubois, "that after we were married he should never talk politics to me and I should never talk child culture to him. And we have kept the agreement scrupulously ever since," she added impressively.

"You are in excellent couple to be able to keep such an agreement," was the comment.

"But we have kept it," said Mrs. Dubois; "that is, we have kept it to this extent—the senator never talks politics to me."

KIDNAPPED

THE ADVENTURES OF DAVID BALFOUR IN THE YEAR 1751

BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

"But it was clear my plan had taken hold upon his fancy, for he kept musing to himself till we were called to dinner and the company of Mrs. Rankellor, and that lady had scarce left us again to ourselves and a bottle of wine ere he was back harping on my proposal. When and where was I to meet my friend Mr. Thomson? Was I sure of Mr. T.'s discretion? Supposing we could catch the old fox tripping, would I consent to such and such a term of an agreement? These and the like questions he kept asking at long intervals, while he thoughtfully rolled his wine upon his tongue. When I had answered all of them, seemingly to his contentment, he fell into a still deeper musing, even the claret being now forgotten. Then he got a sheet of paper and a pencil and set to work writing and weighing every word, and at last touched a bell and had his clerk into the chamber.

"Torrance," said he, "I must have this written out fair against tonight; and when it is done you will be so kind as to put on your hat and be ready to come along with this gentleman and me, for you will probably be wanted as a witness."

"What, sir," cried I as soon as the clerk was gone, "are you to venture it?"
"Why so it must appear," says he, filling his glass. "But let us speak no more of business. The very sight of Torrance brings in my head a little droll matter of some years ago when I had made a try at with the poor oak at the cross of Edinburgh. Each had gone his proper errand; and when it came four o'clock Torrance had been taking a glass and did not know his master, and I, who had forged my spectacles, was so blind without them that I give you my word I did not know my own clerk." And thereupon he laughed heartily.

I said it was an odd chance and smiled out of politeness; but what held me all the afternoon in wonder he kept returning and dwelling on this story and telling it again with fresh details and laughter, so that I began at last to be quite out of countenance and feel ashamed for my friend's folly.

Toward the time I had appointed with Alan we set out from the house, Mr. Rankellor and I arm in arm and Torrance following behind with the deed in his pocket and a covered basket in his hand. All through the town the lawyer was bowing right and left and continually being buttonholed by gentlemen on matters of burg or private business, and I could see he was one greatly looked up to in the country. At last we were clear of the houses and began to go alongside of the haven and toward the Haves inn and the ferry pier, the scene of my misfortune. My only thought should have been of gratitude, and yet I could not behold the place without sorrow for others and a chill of recollection for.

I was thinking, when upon a sudden Mr. Rankellor cried out, clapped his hand to his pockets and began to laugh.
"Why," he cries, "if this be not a farcical adventure! After all that I said I have forgot my glasses!"
At that of course I understood the purpose of his anecdote and knew that if he had left his spectacles at home it had been done on purpose, so that he might have the benefit of Alan's help without the awkwardness of recognizing him.

As soon as we were past the Haves, where I recognized the landlady smacking his apron in the door, and was amazed to see him look no older, Mr. Rankellor changed the order of march, walking behind with Torrance and sending me forward in the manner of a scout. I went up the hill, whistling from time to time my Gaelic air, and at length I had the pleasure to hear it answered and to see Alan rise from behind a bush. He was somewhat dashed in spirits, having passed a long day alone skulking in the country, and made but a poor meal in an alehouse near Dundas. But at the mere sight of my clothes he began to brighten up, and as soon as I had told him in what a forward state our matters were, and the part I looked to him to play in what remained, he sprang into a new man.

"And that is a very good notion of yours," says he, "and I dare to say that you could lay your hands upon no better man to put it through than Alan Brock. It is not a thing (purk ye) that any one could do, but takes a gentleman of penetration. But it sticks in my head your lawyer man will be somewhat wearying to see me," says Alan.

Accordingly I cried and waved on Mr. Rankellor, who came up alone and was presented to my friend Mr. Thomson.

"Mr. Thomson, I am pleased to meet you," said he. "But I have forgotten my glasses, and our friend, Mr. David here" (clapping me on the shoulder) "will tell you that I am little better than blind, and that you must not be surprised if I pass you by tomorrow."

This he said, thinking that Alan would be pleased; but the highlandman's vanity was ready to startle at a less matter than that.

"Why, sir," says he, stiffly, "I would say it mattered the less as we are met here for a particular end, to see justice done to Mr. Balfour; and by what I can see, not very likely to have much else in common. But I accept your apology, which was a very proper one to make."

"And that is more than I could look for, Mr. Thomson," said Rankellor heartily. "And now as you and I are the chief actors in this enterprise, I think we should come to a nice agreement, to which and I propose that you should lend me your arm, for (what with the dusk and the want of my glasses) I am not very clear as to the path; and as for you, Mr. David, you will find Torrance a pleasant kind of body to speak with. Only let me remind you it's quite needless he should hear more of your adventures or those of—Alan—Mr. Thomson."

Accordingly these two went on ahead in very close talk, and Torrance and I brought up the rear.

Night was quite come when we came in view of the house of Shaws. It seemed my uncle was already in bed, which was indeed the best thing for our arrangements. We made our last whispered consultation some fifty yards away; and then the lawyer and Torrance and I crept quietly up and crouched down beside the corner of the house; and as soon as we were in our places Alan strode to the door without concealment and began to knock.

CHAPTER XXVII. I COME INTO MY KINGDOM.

"Thank you, Mr. Thomson," said the lawyer.

For some time Alan volleyed upon the door and his knocking only roused the echoes of the house and neighborhood. At last, however, I could hear the noise of a window gently thrust up and knew that my uncle had come to his observatory. By what light there was he would see Alan standing like a dark shadow on the steps, the three witnesses were hidden quite out of his view, so that in what he saw there was nothing to alarm an honest man in his own house. For all that he studied his visitor awhile in silence, and when he spoke his voice had a quaver of misgiving.

"What's this?" says he. "This is nae kind of time of night for decent folk, and I hae nae trokings (dealings) wi' nightawks. What brings ye here? I have a blunderbuss."

"Is that yours, Mr. Balfour?" returned Alan stepping back and looking up into the darkness. "I have a care of that blunderbuss; they're nasty things to burst."

"What brings ye here, and whae are ye?" says my uncle angrily.

"I have no manner of inclination to rowt out my name to the countryside," said Alan, "but what brings me here is another story, being more of your affairs than mine, and if ye're aye it's what ye would like I'll set it to a tune and sing it to ye."

"And what is it?" asked my uncle.

"David," says Alan.

"What was that?" cried my uncle in a mighty changed voice.

"Shall I give ye the rest of the name then?" said Alan.

There was a pause, and then, "I'm thinking I'll better let ye in," says my uncle doubtfully.

"I dare say that," said Alan, "but the point is, would I go? Now I will tell you what I am thinking. I am thinking that it is here upon this doorstep that we must confer upon this business, and it shall be here or nowhere at all what-ever, for I would have you to understand that I am as stiff-necked as yourself and a gentleman of better family."

This change of note disconcerted

Ebenezer. He was a little while digesting it, and then says he, "Weel, weel, what must be must," and shut the window. But it took him a long time to get down stairs and a still longer to undo the fastenings, repeating, I dare say, and taken with fresh claps of fear at every second step and every bolt and bar. At last, however, we heard the creak of the hinges, and it seems my uncle slipped gingerly out, and seeing that Alan had stepped back a pace or two sat him down on the top doorstep, with the blunderbuss ready in his hands.

"And now," says he, "mind, I have my blunderbuss, and if ye take a step nearer ye're as good as dead."

"And a very civil speech," says Alan, "to be sure."

"Nae," says my uncle, "but this is no a very chummy kind of a proceeding, and I'm bound to be prepared. And now that we understand each other ye'll can name your business."

"Why," says Alan, "you that are a man of so much understanding will doubtless have perceived that I am a highland gentleman. My name has nae business in my story; but the country of my friends is no very far from the Isle of Mull, of which ye will have heard. It seems there was a ship lost in those parts, and the next day a gentleman of my family was seeking wreck wood for his fire along the sands when he came upon a lad that was half drowned. We'll, he brought him to, and he and some other gentlemen look and clapped him in an acid, ruined castle, where from that day to this he has been a great expense to my friends. My friends are a wee wildlike, and not so particular about the law as some that I could name, and finding that the lad owned some decent folk, and was your born nephew, Mr. Balfour, they asked me to give ye a bit of a call and to confer upon the matter. And I may tell ye at the office, unless we can agree upon some terms ye are little likely to set eyes upon him. For my friends," added Alan simply, "are no very well off."

My uncle cleared his throat. "I'm nae very caring," says he. "He was nae a good lad at the best of it, and I've nae call to interfere."

"Aye, aye," said Alan, "I see what ye would be at—pretending ye don't care, to make the ransom smaller."

"Nae," said my uncle, "it's the mere truth. I take nae manner of interest in the lad, and I'll pay nae ransom, and ye can make a kirk and a mill of him for what I care."

"Hoot, sir," says Alan, "Blood's thicker than water, in the deil's name! Ye cannae desert your brother's son for the fair shame of it, and if ye did it and came to be kent ye would nae be very popular in your countryside or I'm the more deceived."

"I'm nae just very popular the way it is," returned Ebenezer, "and I dinnae see how it would come to be kent. No by me one way, nor yet by you or your friends. So that's idle talk, my backie," says he.

"Then it'll have to be David that tells it," said Alan.

"How's that?" says my uncle, sharply.
"Oh, just this way," says Alan. "My friends would doubtless keep your nephew as long as there was any likelihood of stiller to be made of it, but if there was nae, I am clearly of opinion they would let him gang where he pleased, and be damned to him!"

"Aye, but I'm no very caring about that either," said my uncle. "I would nae be muckle made up with that."

"I was thinking that," said Alan.

"And what for?" asked Ebenezer.

"Why, Mr. Balfour," replied Alan, "by all that I could hear, there were two ways of it—either ye liked David and would pay to get him back, or else ye had very good reasons for not wanting him, and would pay for nae to keep him. It seems it's not the first; well then it's the second, and blithe am I to ken it, for it should be a pretty penny in my pocket and the pockets of my friends."

"I dinnae follow ye there," said my uncle.

NOVEL SCHEME

Plan to Subscribe for a Coal Mining Fund.

Interest Aroused in Metropolis Over a Paducah's Suggestion.

The people of Metropolis are interested in a novel plan suggested by a Paducah man for arousing interest in the minerals of that county.

The Metropolis Herald says: The Herald is in receipt of the following letter from a gentleman in Paducah who suggests a somewhat novel method of raising a fund for boring for coal or oil in Massac county:

"Mr. Editor: As it seems that most of Metropolis' population is interested with a view to coal, why not see what is under Massac county?"

"Why not organize and raise a fund?"

"Lastly determine the matter to where the well shall be sunk by a drawing contest. For each $5 subscribed a man shall have one draw. Is the coal owner in Massac county who would not freely subscribe to a fund, knowing that if he should draw the lucky number he could have them bore on his land? Coal if found would double value of the land. If there are too many $5 subscribers we can go deeper and see if there is oil. Agitate it and if it is a go, put me down for $10. Yours truly,

"W. THOS. SMITH."

Mr. W. Thomas Smith, however, is unknown here.

A Youthful Logician.

He was a very small boy, and mamma was getting him ready for bed. She had taken off all his clothes, even to the last little shirt, when the little boy, delighting in his freedom, escaped and, dressed only in the little flesh-colored suit with which nature had provided him, ran laughing around the room.

"Come right back to mamma, dear," said the mother reprovingly. "God will not like you to do that."

"Es he will," replied the archer with a glance at a big picture upon the wall which had served as the text for many small sermons delivered to him by his careful parents. "He does it himself." And the mother, following the child's glance, had nothing to say, for there was that famous picture of the Holy Family and the infant Jesus appearing in that absence of clothing in which children in warm climates revel.—New York Times.

Her Gawling Secret.

"Ah," said the gray-haired woman to those who had gathered about her bedside, "you little know the gawling guilt that is racking my conscience."

"Why, grandmother," exclaimed the golden-haired girl at the foot of the bed, surely you can have nothing on your conscience?"

"Alas, yes!" declared the poor woman, hurrying her face in the hem-stitched counterpane.

Mutely they gazed at her until her sorrowing soul could no longer endure the silence. Then she wailed:

"Once when I was young—once—once, when I was a girl and going to college, I—I—I invented a college yell, and yelled it, too!"

Then a shudder passed through the frail form and she had sought that bourn, where, it is said, college yells are barred.

Telephones Are Indispensable.

The growth of the telephone business has been enormous in recent years. The statement has been made that there are now in use in the country upward of 3,400,000 telephone instruments and that a great majority of these have been put in place during the past ten years. More than 200,000 telephones have been placed in farmhouses within a few years. The increase in farm telephones is proportionately greater than in any other branch of the business.

College Vacations Too Long.

Professor Charles S. Minot of the Harvard Medical school has been studying the question of vacations in colleges, and he concludes, as he states in an article in Science, that the amount of vacation "is very excessive." "With the vacation shortened it would be easily possible to bring young men into active life a year earlier than is now possible, and that would be an immense gain." There isn't much doubt of that. But it will be harder to effect a change in this line than it was to remove the venerable impression that Greek was the sacred sine qua non of an education.

Veteran Still in Harness.

Prof. Capen of the Boston Latin school has seen fifty years' service in that institution. He is now 79 years old, but does not propose to quit active labor for some time to come. He is widely known throughout the east as one of the best Latin scholars in America.
